Panton Font Family is a premium face with a unique look and elegant feel and is inspired by the ideas and work of the Pantone. The origin is the US highway department. Pantone Font Family is a sans-serif font that has capricious variations of many styles, especially in the lowercase. It is a perfect serif font for the websites, signs, print materials, and advertisements. However, this font is perfect for creative projects of all kinds. Although it's a sans serif font, it does have a lot of motion in it and a lot of stroke. Other than that, the Panton font comes with a lot of type features such as strike accent, swash capitals, tiny capitals, old style figures, small capitals etc. It is a very well-designed and sophisticated font. It has a high-quality print on your hands, making it durable to use. The Panton font has three weights (light, regular, and bold). This sans-serif font is widely used as it has a clean and simple look. The Panton font family is available as a web font, a VTT file, and an OpenType TrueType font. The web version is a simple, clean and no-frills, however, there is a real attention to detail in the glyphs. It is a regular sans serif font and easy to work with. It is a beautiful font for Mac and Windows. When naming a font, and they are just starting out with your first font. This font will be great for the first marks because it's very easy to use and set up, but as it grows and starts to take on new styles, it will be good if you can choose a custom family because you can add more styles and characters to this font that's right for you. For instance, if you are a print designer, you'll probably need more swash, zeros and lining caps. If you are creating a logo, you might not need many of the alternates, but want a high-resolution version of the fonts.
